

Contact: Lisa Davis, 801/230-9399

The Leonardo Unveils International Advisory Board

-- Prestigious Group Includes OMSI Director, The Tech Founder

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 17, 2007 – The Leonardo today announced the formation of an international advisory board. This prominent group features national and international experts in the museum, fundraising, and science and technology sectors. Members of the team include:

Nancy Stueber, executive director, Oregon Museum of Science and Industry (OMSI); board member, American Association of Museums.

Dee Mooney, executive director, Micron Technology Foundation. Former director of charitable donations and community relations, Albertsons Inc., and president of Albertsons Assist Foundation.

Dr. Peter Giles, executive director, Mauna Kea Astronomy Education Center, University of Hilo, Hawaii. Formerly served as executive director, The Tech, San Jose, California.

Dr. Sasha Kamb, executive director of Amgen Inc.'s Hematology, Oncology and Neurological Diseases Division; formerly director of research, Myriad Genetics.

Ian Calderon, director of Digital Initiatives, Sundance Institute

Patrice Lagro, executive director, Mario Koshland Museum of Science, National Academy of Sciences. Former director of the division of communication and special projects, Center for Science, Mathematics, and Engineering Education, National Academies.

Al Meloni, president, Exploration Place, Wichita, Kansas. Former CEO, St. Joseph Museums Inc., and CEO, Institute for American Indian Studies, Washington, Conn.

Winter Horton, retired, formally board of directors, Corporation of Public Broadcasting, Sundance Institute. Former director of communications, Sen. Robert Bennett.

Brigitte Zana, director of development, Palais de la découverte, Paris, France.

About The Leonardo

Inspired by Leonardo da Vinci, The Leonardo will be a first-of-a-kind art, culture and science center with a multidisciplinary approach. Located in the heart of Utah's capital city, The Leonardo will be part of Library Square, a developing civic and education center anchored by a magnificent new City Library, which is the state's second most-visited tourist destination. The mission of The Leonardo is to create opportunities for visitors to become participants by exploring "new ways of seeing" their world, themselves and each other.